SIGNIFICANT FINANCIAL INTEREST DECLARATION FORM

DIRECTIONS
The following is a list of screening questions related to your potential Significant Financial Interests (SFI). A Significant Financial Interest is defined as anything of monetary value (whether that value can be easily determined or not), that belongs to you, your spouse, your domestic partner, or your dependent children and reasonably appears to be related to your Institutional Responsibilities and meets the following criteria:

- You received remuneration from a publicly-traded entity during the previous 12 months and/or hold any equity interest in the entity, the combined value of which exceeds $5,000.
- You hold ANY equity interest in a non-publicly traded entity.
- You received more than $5,000 in remuneration from a non-publicly traded entity during the previous 12 months.
- You received remuneration of any dollar amount from intellectual property rights and interests (such as patents, copyrights, royalties, licensing fees) during the previous 12 months.
- You were reimbursed for travel, or had any travel costs sponsored by an entity (other than the UO, a U.S. government, academic medical center or higher education institution) if costs for that travel when aggregated, exceed $5,000 per sponsoring entity.

UO Policy and federal regulations require you to declare Significant Financial Interests that "reasonably appear related" to your Institutional Responsibilities. While in some cases, a relation will be obvious (such as a financial interest in a pharmaceutical company for which you evaluate potential drugs); in many cases the relation will be less obvious. In such instances, you should declare this SFI to the University, as the compliance burden shifts to the University to determine whether the SFI is reasonably related your Institutional Responsibilities, reducing your risk for noncompliance.

If you answer any screening question with Yes, you must fill out Attachments A, B, C, D or E depending on the Significant Financial Interest type you indicated.
1. Non-Publicly Traded Entity

During the last calendar year, did you, your spouse, domestic partner or dependent children, alone or in combination have an equity interest in a non-publicly traded entity that reasonably appear to be related to your institutional responsibilities?

Equity interest includes stock, stock options, a partnership and other ownership interests.

Equity interest does NOT include stock owned through mutual funds where investment decisions and management are made by an independent entity other than yourself (e.g., TIAA-CREF, Public Employees Retirement System (PERS), Oregon Public Service Retirement Plan (OPSRP) or the Optional Retirement Plan (ORP)).

A non-publicly traded entity is defined as any non-UO, non-governmental, for-profit or non-profit company, corporation, partnership, LLC or organization, where the ownership interests are privately held and are not traded on public markets or exchanges, such as the NASDAQ or NYSE or other commodity exchanges.

YES Example - Your research involves the application of nanoparticles to make dyes that are less permeable to water. You have $500 worth of shares in Eugene Tye Dye, Inc, a non-publicly traded, for-profit family-owned company that specializes in tye-dye production and distribution of t-shirts.

YES Example - Your research involves a math intervention for high school students. You are the CEO of a non-profit organization called “Math for Tomorrow” that uses your math curriculum in schools across the country.

YES Example - You are advising a student whose thesis focuses on the application of nanoparticles to make dyes that are less permeable to water. You have 500 worth of shares in Eugene Tye Dye, Inc, a non-publicly traded, for-profit family-owned company that specializes in tye-dye production and distribution of t-shirts.

NO Example - Your research involves studying environmental themes in literature from the early nineteenth century. You have $500 worth of shares in Eugene Tye Dye, Inc, a non-publicly traded, for-profit family owned company that specializes in tye-dye production and distribution.
